

AikiWeb: The Source for Aikido Information

AikiWeb's principal purpose is to serve the Internet community as a repository and dissemination point for aikido information.

Sections

home

aikido articles

columns

aikiwiki

Discussions

forums

aikiblogs

Databases

dojo search

seminars

image gallery

supplies

links directory

Reviews

book reviews

video reviews

dvd reviews

equip. reviews

News

submit

archive

Miscellaneous

newsletter

e-cards

multimedia

rss feeds

polls

donate

about

Buttons

Follow us on

Home > AikiWeb Aikido Forums

AikiWeb Aikido Forums > General

Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Register

FAQ

AikiBlogs

User Name

Remember Me?

Password

Active Topics

Hello and thank you for visiting AikiWeb, the world's most active online Aikido community! This site is home to over 16,000 aikido practitioners from around the world and covers a wide range of aikido topics including techniques, philosophy, history, humor, beginner issues, the marketplace, and more.

If you wish to join in the discussions or use the other advanced features available, you will need to register first. Registration is absolutely free and takes only a few minutes to complete so sign up today!

Page 4 of 6 « First < 2 3 4 5 6 > »

 View First Unread

Thread Tools

 Yesterday, 09:54 AM

#76

Marc Abrams

Dojo: Aikido Arts of Shin Budo Kai/

Bedford Hills, New York

Location: New York

Join Date: May 2006

Posts: 905

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Dan Harden wrote:

Ask the organizers to respond and let them know their official response or notice of lack thereof, will be posted in public here.

Dan

Sent EVERYONE on that list an e-mail. No response yet. Somehow not surprised. If they are thinking at the ostrich defense will work in this matter, they are very much mistaken.

marc abrams

<http://www.aasbk.com>

 Yesterday, 09:59 AM

#77

dps

Join Date: Apr 2006

Posts: 1,979

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Dan Harden wrote:

Rule of law is obfuscating the key point here. Convicted or no, guilty or no, Saito made a decision - perhaps made on better information the pundits here are aware of- and declared him Hammon. To have him reappear at a memorial strains the bounds of decency.

It states on the brochure that their intent is presenting the beautiful pedagogy of Saito!!

Ala Klickstein??

The site address

<http://www.taai.it/>

Contacts page.

<http://www.taai.it/index.php?option=...mid=86&lang=en>

Email for Dojo

info@taai.it

It would be better for those who will not attend for that reason, to let them know in advance. If people here are offended make your "offense" mean *something. Someone draft a petition and offer it in a form for electric signature, send it to the organizers well in advance.

To do nothing but belly ache is a hollow gesture. Petition, show up and picket, threaten to picket...do something to let them know it will not be tolerated. Let them know that every teacher who appears on that stage will be recorded and made known themselves. Send letters -well in advance-to those teachers individually. Call them. They may not know and may thank you for it.*

A much saner approach to solving the problem.

dps

Thanks to the current administration a wooden nickel is now not worth the wood it is made of.

Yesterday, 10:08 AM

#78

Hellis

Dojo: Ellis Schools of Traditional Aikido
Location: Bracknell
Join Date: Feb 2010
Posts: 450

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

I note from the event poster the teachers on the day are all European except for two Americans, being Mr Klickstein and Mr Witt.

I am sure that most students in Europe are unfamiliar with the background of Mr Klickstein as I was until this thread started so I doubt any questions would be raised over here.

Is there any association in Aikido or past friendship between Mr Klickstein and Mr Witt ? If so ? that could be the reason he is attending.

If any of the senior Aikidoka on here such as George are in contact with Mr Witt - maybe he could clarify the matter ?

Henry Ellis

Aikido Articles

<http://aikidoarticles.blogspot.com/>

Yesterday, 10:09 AM

#79

Cliff Judge

Dojo: Aikido Shobukan Dojo
Location: Columbia, MD
Join Date: Sep 2005
Posts: 232

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 🗨

A much saner approach to solving the problem.

dps

Than what?

Yesterday, 10:14 AM

#80

dps

Join Date: Apr 2006
Posts: 1,979
Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Mary Eastland wrote: 🗨

David, I understand what you are saying here. However, the behavior in question is not one that goes away. Offenders continue to offend. I applaud the conversation here. Often such behavior is denied and protected by organizations. No one will speak out.

I know and understand the aspects of situations like this one.

Quote:

Mary Eastland wrote:
Here, men are speaking out...good for them and good for the people that were victimized.

How is publicly discussing this good for the victims?. Were the victims asked. Did they consent to the public discussion?

Quote:

Mary Eastland wrote:
They are not just victims. They are people that were hurt and are healing. (I hope.)

Then lets put their feelings and welfare first.

George could have contacted the organizer of the event and expressed his concerns to them. He could have phoned, emailed or any number of ways to spread the word privately in the Aikido community about this.

dps

Thanks to the current administration a wooden nickel is now not worth the wood it is made of.

 Yesterday, 10:14 AM

#81

DH

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Join Date: Aug 2005
 Posts: 2,446

 Offline

Quote:

Marc Abrams wrote:
Sent EVERYONE on that list an e-mail. No response yet. Somehow not surprised. If they are thinking at the ostrich defense will work in this matter, they are very much mistaken.

marc abrams

These things are not done casually. The organizers are responsible for due diligence. Those who did the credentialing / vetting were most assuredly aware and may have a prepared response. It is worth noting in any email that the listed membership and readership of Aikiweb can approach 50,000 people here. Not to mention word of mouth.

It's also worth letting them know that teachers here stand in rooms with Aikido teachers from all over the world and will make their names known and the actions of the Iwama style known.

Dan

Last edited by DH : Yesterday at 10:17 AM.

Through change, ten thousand endings
 But only through one theory
 The union of opposites

 Yesterday, 10:37 AM

#82

Cliff Judge

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Dojo: Aikido Shobukan Dojo
 Location: Columbia, MD
 Join Date: Sep 2005
 Posts: 232

 Offline

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 🗨️
George could have contacted the organizer of the event and expressed his concerns to them. He could have phoned, emailed or any number of ways to spread the word privately in the Aikido community about this.

A prominent Aikido instructor and senior American student of Saito Sensei is accused of sexually assaulting multiple underaged students over the course of years.

This results in Saito Sensei revoking his rank and expelling him from Aikido.

Some years later this instructor is apparently going to teach at a seminar dedicated to the memory of Saito Sensei, as though his rank was not revoked and as though Saito had not declared the man dead to him.

You seem to have a real problem with George bringing this up in a public forum. Why is that?

Yesterday, 10:51 AM

#83

dps

Join Date: Apr 2006
 Posts: 1,979
 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Cliff Judge wrote: 🗨️
You seem to have a real problem with George bringing this up in a public forum. Why is that?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 🗨️
How is publicly discussing this good for the victims?. Were the victims asked. Did they consent to the public discussion?

Then lets put their feelings and welfare first.

dps

Thanks to the current administration a wooden nickel is now not worth the wood it is made of.

Yesterday, 10:59 AM

#84

kewms

Join Date: Aug 2002
 Posts: 262
 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

The seminar is a public event. Why shouldn't public events be discussed in a public forum?

Given that none of the victims has been mentioned by name, I don't see how their interests enter into the discussion. Should the privacy of victims make it impossible to discuss the actions of any offender, ever? Isn't that exactly how offenders are able to continue their predatory behavior for years, even after getting caught?

I doubt that anyone here applies a vigorous "rule of law" standard to their personal, or even business relationships. If you knew no more than has been presented here, would you let this person teach your children? It's one thing to say a person shouldn't go to jail, quite another to let him into your own circles.

Katherine

Yesterday, 11:04 AM

#85

DH

Join Date: Aug 2005

Posts: 2,446

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote:

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Quote:

Cliff Judge wrote:

You seem to have a real problem with George bringing this up in a public forum. Why is that?

Quote:

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote:

How is publicly discussing this good for the victims?. Were the victims asked. Did they consent to the public discussion?

Then lets put their feelings and welfare first.

dps

dps

Where are there names mentioned?
Feelings? You've got to be serious.
How about telling them that he has his rank back and no one objected.
You go first. Go see the families.
Tell them your idea was to privately object and mine was to organize thousands of people to publicly object. Then let me know how it works out for ya and what they all think of your idea!!
Good grief!

Most people know that silence and or privately objecting is not the way to improve things. I think you should reconsider your view.

Look, as it is, we do not know the facts. So the issue remains one of impropriety regarding the revocation of rank and what it looks like as being representative of the communities own standards.

If someone is more comfortable that they do know enough of the facts, here is another example of a tactic;
Write a notice to the local papers, and womens groups, and then send copies of those to the organizers as well. It says more to see positive action taken by the community within the community, to police it's own, then to be found negligent or uncaring and shame all.

Dan

Last edited by DH : Yesterday at 11:17 AM.

Through change, ten thousand endings
But only through one theory
The union of opposites

Yesterday, 11:14 AM

#86

Chris Covington

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

I think it is very important to know about sex offenders, their locations and their

Location: Baltimore, MD
 Join Date: Sep 2005
 Posts: 64

 Offline

habits/how the operate. Our unit does SORT (sex offender registry team) and we verify the location of every registered offender in our county multiple times per year (I think there are 617 of them right now). This process draws a great deal of attention to them, too. We park a marked car in their driveway or right in front of their house and we show up in uniform. We stay on their front porch for the interview and as you can imagine the neighbors all pop their heads out. If they are not home we knock on the neighbor's door and explain to them why we are there and if they can verify if the offender lives next door. These are all convicted offenders.

The very scary part is that these people are almost always known to the victim and often a friend of the family. The predators often vet their targets for certain characteristics and then groom them long before any abuse occurs. This can go on for a long time and even very good parents never have a clue. We as society have some level of responsibility to monitor them and protect ourselves from them (hence the reason they have to register their location with the state).

Chris Covington
 Daito-ryu aikijujutsu
 Kashima Shinden Jikishinkage-ryu kenjutsu

 Yesterday, 11:18 AM

#87

dps

Join Date: Apr 2006
 Posts: 1,979
 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

All that I am asking is that for the sake of the victims that some of you know were the asked how they felt about opening this up to a public discussion.

As far as Mr. Bruce Klickstein is concerned, Jun would not allow the description of what I think should be done to him posted but if any of you what like to know pm me.

dps

Thanks to the current administration a wooden nickel is now not worth the wood it is made of.

 Yesterday, 11:24 AM

#88

Budd ✨

そこら辺の白人と 一緒にしないで ください

Dojo: Taikyoku Aikido
 Location: Williamsville, NY
 Join Date: Aug 2003
 Posts: 747

 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Henry Ellis wrote:
Is there any association in Aikido or past friendship between Mr Klickstein and Mr Witt ? If so ? that could be the reason he is attending. If any of the senior Aikidoka on here such as George are in contact with Mr Witt - maybe he could clarify the matter ?

Henry Ellis
Aikido Articles
<http://aikidoarticles.blogspot.com/>

I first started aikido in Northern California back in 1990 - around that time, there was a short aikido documentary on the Public Broadcasting network that had been filmed years earlier, featuring segments and demonstrations by Bill Witt, Bruce Klickstein and Frank Doran. At the time and in the dojo in which I was training, there was no mention made to me regarding Klickstein's status within the aikido community.

It wasn't until years later (after a substantial break from aikido doing other things) when I was training in the Eastern part of the US, that I found out about the incidents involving Klickstein. I thought it odd after the fact that nobody had mentioned it in my dojo, but back then I was an obnoxious grappler teenager (at least I'm no longer a teenager), so that could have been why no one made mention, but who knows - probably still a pretty recent and raw event at that point.

Yesterday, 11:37 AM

#89

George S. Ledyard ✨

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Dojo: Aikido Eastside
Location: Bellevue, WA
Join Date: Jun 2000
Posts: 2,407
Offline

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 📄

All that I am asking is that for the sake of the victims that some of you know were the asked how they felt about opening this up to a public discussion.

As far as Mr. Bruce Klickstein is concerned, Jun would not allow the description of what I think should be done to him posted but if any of you what like to know pm me.

dps

As I said, I am personal friends with one of the victims. I did check with her whether this would be too painful for her. She asked that her name not be used but supported what I was going to do in trying to publicize this issue. I have also received a number of very supportive e-mails from people who were directly involved at the time. They also said going through this again would open up too many wounds but expressed strong support for the effort. So far, I have received nothing but messages of strong support from any of the folks involved. The only reservations were from people who were not very familiar with the events of the time.

George S. Ledyard
Aikido Eastside
Bellevue, WA
Aikido Eastside

Yesterday, 11:38 AM

#90

vjw

Location: Rochester, NY
Join Date: Sep 2004
Posts: 60

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 📄

All that I am asking is that for the sake of the victims that some of you know were the asked how they felt about opening this up to a public discussion.

dps

Should we check in each time with all the living 9/11 victims before we discuss publicly the terrorists that did it?

Personally, my priority is preventing even one more victim joining their group.

Yesterday, 11:41 AM

#91

George S. Ledyard ✨

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Dojo: Aikido Eastside
Location: Bellevue, WA

Quote:

Budd Yuhasz wrote: 📄

At the time and in the dojo in which I was training, there was no mention made to me regarding Klickstein's status within the aikido community.

Join Date: Jun 2000
 Posts: 2,407
 Offline

It wasn't until years later (after a substantial break from aikido doing other things) when I was training in the Eastern part of the US, that I found out about the incidents involving Klickstein. I thought it odd after the fact that nobody had mentioned it in my dojo, but back then I was an obnoxious grappler teenager (at least I'm no longer a teenager), so that could have been why no one made mention, but who knows - probably still a pretty recent and raw event at that point.

Not only recent and raw but a new student, still enthusiastic and perhaps idealistic about the art would have been about the last person one would talk to about something so negative. I certainly didn't with my students. It was taken care of and we got back to the rather more fun business of training, which is what I hope happens here.

Last edited by akij : Yesterday at 12:11 PM. Reason: Fixed quote tag

George S. Ledyard
 Aikido Eastside
 Bellevue, WA
Aikido Eastside

Yesterday, 11:43 AM

#92

Toby Threadgill

Location: Evergreen, Colorado
 Join Date: Oct 2006
 Posts: 150

 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Hello David,

Can you please show me where the privacy of the victims has been abridged? You do realize that some of the most vociferous condemnation of this event is coming from people who are personal friends with the victims and know their feelings on the subject.

The perpetrators of child rape count on shame to sweep it under the rug. Sweeping an incident like this under the rug is exactly what creates an atmosphere where this sort of thing can occur again. Shining a light on this crime is what both prevents future victimization and empowers all victims to turn shame away from themselves and towards the perpetrator, where it belongs.

Toby Threadgill

Yesterday, 11:44 AM

#93

dps

Join Date: Apr 2006
 Posts: 1,979
 Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

George S. Ledyard wrote:

As I said, I am personal friends with one of the victims. I did check with her whether this would be too painful for her. She asked that her name not be used but supported what I was going to do in trying to publicize this issue. I have also received a number of very supportive e-mails from people who were directly involved at the time. They also said going through this again would open up too many wounds but expressed strong support for the effort. So far, I have received nothing but messages of strong support from any of the folks involved. The only reservations were from people who were not very familiar with the events of the time.

Thank You George.

Those that were hurt come first.

dps

Thanks to the current administration a wooden nickel is now not worth the wood it is made of.

Yesterday, 11:51 AM

#94

Hellis

Dojo: Ellis Schools of Traditional Aikido
Location: Bracknell
Join Date: Feb 2010
Posts: 450

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

Budd Yuhasz wrote:

I first started aikido in Northern California back in 1990 - around that time, there was a short aikido documentary on the Public Broadcasting network that had been filmed years earlier, featuring segments and demonstrations by Bill Witt, Bruce Klickstein and Frank Doran. At the time and in the dojo in which I was training, there was no mention made to me regarding Klickstein's status within the aikido community.

It wasn't until years later (after a substantial break from aikido doing other things) when I was training in the Eastern part of the US, that I found out about the incidents involving Klickstein. I thought it odd after the fact that nobody had mentioned it in my dojo, but back then I was an obnoxious grappler teenager (at least I'm no longer a teenager), so that could have been why no one made mention, but who knows - probably still a pretty recent and raw event at that point.

Budd

Thank you for that information it explains some of the questions I had.

Regards

Henry Ellis

British Aikido

<http://britishaikido.blogspot.com/>

Yesterday, 11:55 AM

#95

kewms

Join Date: Aug 2002
Posts: 262
Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote:

*It is simple.
Burn his books.
Judge and convict him of crimes not yet committed.
Mark with a scarlet letter.
Declared him a nonperson.*

If I recall correctly, Hester Prynne **was** guilty of the act for which she was given the Scarlet Letter. And it was the other characters in the story who were ultimately destroyed by their guilt.

Katherine

Yesterday, 12:48 PM

#96

rulemaker

Dojo: Aikido Philippines
Join Date: Feb 2005
Posts: 110

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Words Of Wisdom From Saito Sensei:

Saito-sensei was a perfect gentleman at all times, and set a sterling example for us. He was especially proper with his female students.

One day he took several of us aside and gave us two pieces of advice for conduct as Aikido instructors.

1. Don't try to make a living teaching Aikido.
2. Don't fool around with your female students.

History has shown the wisdom of this advice.

<http://www.iwama-aikido.com/iwamawisdom.html>

Yesterday, 01:35 PM

#97

Shadowfax

Dojo: Allegheny Aikido, Pittsburgh PA

Location: Pittsburgh PA

Join Date: May 2009

Posts: 676

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote: 🗨️

All that I am asking is that for the sake of the victims that some of you know were the asked how they felt about opening this up to a public discussion.

Having been a victim, although not specifically of this person, let me just say this. If someone were to publicly stand up as Ledyard sensei is doing along with the many others, to make certain that my abusers were not just welcomed back as if they had never done anything wrong, I would not only not be upset about it but I personally would have to thank them for it.

Too many people want to just close their eyes and pretend not to see or pretend it didn't happen. To me it is very encouraging to see that the aikido community looks after its own and does not just sweep things like this under the proverbial rug.

I heard about this person not long after I began training. I would never want to find myself on the mat with such a person. I have been in the situation of having to interact with my abusers long after the events. When everyone else just conveniently "forgot" about it or made it out to be less than it really was. That is a far worse thing to have to deal with than seeing public evidence that those who are considered family really do care and really are looking out for us in a situation that would be very difficult for those of us in that situation to confront on our own.

Anyway I just want to say THANK YOU to those who are stepping up to see that the right thing is done. You all help to strengthen my faith in humanity.

First day training May 17 2009

6th kyu Oct 27th 2009

5th kyu May 27 2010

4th kyu Dec 16 2010

3rd kyu August 25 2011 😊

Yesterday, 01:44 PM

#98

Michael Hackett ✨

Dojo: Kenshinkan Dojo (Aikido of North County) Vista, CA

Location: Oceanside, California

Join Date: Oct 2000

Posts: 851

Offline

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

After years as a member of the California Sexual Assault Investigator's Association, I'm with Ledyard Sensei here. On top of the personal conduct involved, the fact that he was disowned by Saito Sensei strongly suggests that Mr. Klickstein shouldn't have been invited in the first place.

The other instructors have a serious problem on their hands. Assuming that they didn't know the backstory when they agreed to participate, they've given their word to attend and teach. They are faced with violating their personal bond by not participating, or being in the same room with someone of such poor repute. It seems the best solution would be for the organizers to rescind their invitation to Mr. Klickstein. That would quickly correct what I consider to be a serious error in judgment.

Michael
"Leave the gun. Bring the cannoli."

Yesterday, 01:57 PM

#99

SeiserL

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Dojo: Tenshinkai Aikido (CA) Aikikai
Location: Roswell (GA) Budokan
Join Date: Jun 2000
Posts: 3,301
 Offline

Quote:

David Skaggs wrote:
How is publicly discussing this good for the victims?. Were the victims asked. Did they consent to the public discussion?

The victims names are not being disclosed and they are not personally the subject of this thread.

From 30 years of professionally working with victims, I feel assured they would feel supported and reassured that people have not forgotten or changed our stance about what happened to them. It was wrong then and is wrong now.

IMHO, a strong victim advocacy position is to take a stand against any abuse of power, position, and authority.

Silence (rationalizing or minimizing) does not help anyone. It is part of the problem.

Zero-tolerance, a long memory, and a loud stance is in everyone's mutual best interest.

Lynn Seiser PhD
SandanTenshinkai Aikido & FMA/JKD
We do not rise to the level of our expectations, but fall to the level of our training. Train well. KWATZI!

Yesterday, 02:30 PM

#100

Marc Abrams

Re: Bruce Klickstein Teaching Again?

Dojo: Aikido Arts of Shin Budo Kai/
Bedford Hills, New York
Location: New York
Join Date: May 2006
Posts: 905
 Offline

Bill Witt Sensei has replied to my private e-mail to him. I frankly think that his response to me indicated a true lack of depth of knowledge of Bruce's actions and his having been convinced that Bruce was simply interested in seeing old friends. Bill seems like an honorable man who is open to discussing things. I would strongly encourage people to e-mail him directly at :

Bill Witt [wwittsensei@mindspring.com]

I think that the more of us that speak directly to the participants, the greater likelihood we have of seeing this potential travesty not occur.

I am no longer a practicing Jew and Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) is coming up. There is one portion of prayer in which we ask for forgiveness for the sin of not acting. I for one, cannot sit silently to somehow seek forgiveness for a lack of moral action at some later date. Our community has a wonderful opportunity to stand up and speak out for what is right in this matter.

Marc Abrams

<http://www.aasbk.com>

Please visit our sponsor:

Aikido DVD's - George Ledyard Sensei Weapons and Empty Hand DVD's

0

0

Like

Be the first of your friends to like this.

« Previous Thread | Next Thread »Currently Active Users Viewing This Thread: 15 (2 members and 13 guests)AbasanPosting Rules

You may not post new threads
 You may not post replies
 You may not post attachments
 You may not edit your posts

vB code is On Smilies are On [IMG] code is On
 HTML code is Off

Similar Threads

Thread	Thread Starter	Forum	Replies	Last Post
Teaching Aikido to Children Workshop	wmreed	Seminars	2	09-06-2008 04:33 PM
Transmission, Inheritance, Emulation 3	Peter Goldsbury	Columns	16	05-28-2007 06:24 AM
Transmission, Inheritance, Emulation 2	Peter Goldsbury	Columns	3	04-19-2007 04:53 AM
bruce klickstein	johanlook	General	3	02-08-2003 03:14 PM

All times are GMT -6. The time now is 08:29 PM.

-- English (US)

Contact Us - AikiWeb Aikido Information - Archive - Privacy Statement - Top

vBulletin Copyright © 2000-2011 Jelsoft Enterprises Limited

Copyright 1997-2011 AikiWeb and its Authors, All Rights Reserved.

For questions and comments about this website:
Send E-mail